

The McDonald-Tinroad6g Debate

This debate is a written exchange between Jerry McDonald and an internet personality who goes by the pen name “tinroad6g.” Tinroad6g joined the challenge2 list several months ago and began asking for a written debate on the subject of the eternity of hell. I told him that I would engage him, but at the moment I was engaged in other activities. He began publishing articles on the challenge2 list (something I didn’t mind him doing at all), but another subscriber with the pen name “newbie” informed tinroad6g that I was a member the churches of Christ and that the churches of Christ were cults. Tinroad6g immediately removed his articles from the archives and left the list.

Recently, on the Debunking Evolutionism list, Tinroad6g started talking about how I had run from him regarding that debate. Having some free time I decided to go ahead and debate him. I informed him of the proposition that I would affirm. He wanted only one page per article. So I will do my best to keep it at that. He also gave a time limit of 48 hours for the debate to continue. I can also live with that. What you will now read is that debate.

McDonald’s First Affirmative
Tinroad6g’s First Rebuttal

McDonald’s Second Affirmative
Tinroad6g’s Second Rebuttal

McDonald’s Third Affirmative

Closing Remarks